The Perfect Job?

Many students have dreams about what job they would like to do in the future. How about you? Would you like to be a doctor or a lawyer? Maybe an actor or a writer? Well, there is a job in Australia at the moment that people are calling 'the perfect job!' It's on a tropical island with clear blue skies and golden beaches and for twelve hours work a month, for half a year, you can earn £70,000!

In Australia, they are looking for someone to stay on Hamilton Island. This is a tropical island in the Great Barrier Reef. The person will live in a beautiful three bedroom villa with a swimming pool and the house is free! The job isn't very difficult. It's 'caretaker' of the island. Usually a caretaker looks after buildings for the people who live there, but this caretaker will look after the island. There isn't a lot to do. He or she has to feed some fish and collect the letters from the people on the island – a bit like a postman! There is another part of the job too. The 'caretaker' has to visit lots of little islands in the area and learn all about them. Then he has to write about them on a blog and make videos. The Australians want more tourists to visit the area. That is the really important part of the job. So, what are the qualifications for this wonderful job? Well, they want someone who likes living in warm temperatures. This person must sail, swim and like taking photographs! And he must like animals and exploring new places. It sounds perfect to me!
