

Weather around the world

Meteorology is the study of the weather. The people who study meteorology are called meteorologists. They use computers and other tools to make weather maps. The maps show the temperature, cloud formations, winds and storms.

Meteorologists

are

can

study

