TEACHER'S NOTES

1. We were sent to explore the 49th state, Alaska the last frontier.
2. This last frontier is packed with wildlife
3. There is no better place to familiarize yourself with the twilight than the Alaska Wildlife Conservation Centre
4. A lot of people come to the centre to get some great pictures
5. We then walked up to a large herd of wood bison
6. They are usually larger and heavier than the one you would find on the plains
7. How cool would it be to see these guys roaming around Alaska
8. This bear was right up to the fence line hoping the keeper was nearby would toss in some more food.
9. They have since been reintroduced and in some parts now and share some their habitat with the polar bears
10. I watched the moose which is the largest member of the deer family.
